California Far From What It Is Cracked Up to Be.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Oct. 22, 1890.
DEAR INTERIOR.—The weather has been quite changeable since I last wrote. The extremely hot spell of which I then spoke soon changed into really cold, and there was frost in this vicinity and other lowlands and snow in the mountains not very far off. This chilly weather lasted several days and was rendered more disagreeable by the absence of any provision for fires. After this came some rain, followed by pleasant weather during the middle of the day, but the early mornings, on account of fogs and clouds, were not so pleasant. Since Friday it has been exceedingly warm, and although this is the latter part of the second fall month, the sun is simply scorching. A curious fact about the climate here is this: whenever the sun is obscured by fog or cloud or disappears at sunset, there seems to be twice as much breeze as when it is shining, and as the sun is most always hot and the air at such times cool, you may be shivering one hour and the next or less time be sweltering in heat, or vice versa. Often there is a difference of 40° to 70° between the temperature of the coldest part of the night and the sun during the middle of the day. These changes, of course, are productive of colds and one has to be very particular at all times of year to avoid catching them, and then will not succeed, as I've found out to my sorrow. There are, notwithstanding, some fine days, but the climate is a very long way from being as near perfect as people in the East are led to believe. No doubt there are those who come here from New England and Illinois, Iowa and Kansas, and such like States, where the thermometer sometimes goes to 35° or 40° below zero in winter and to considerably over 100° above in summer (and Southern California is almost entirely populated by people from those States), naturally think the climate better than those who are not used to such extremes in their native States. Yesterday the thermometer was 99° in the shade at the signal service office, and goodness knows what it was in the sun. Last night was very warm and the blanket that Californians say one always needs to sleep under would have been anything but pleasant for several days past.

I went to Pomona last week to see how things were there. Found the place rather dull and very hot and dusty. A large acreage was set out last year in Naval oranges. These look very well, as do also the other trees, with the exception of some that are infested with scale, but that pest hasn't gotten as firm a foothold there as at other places nearer the ocean. From some unaccountable cause, the present orange crop thereabout will not be more than a half one, the oranges having fallen off in large quantities soon after dropping the bloom. This is the case at some other places. Haven't heard from Riverside on that score. Orange land at Pomona, without any improvement, is held at $250 to $300 per acre; that with trees one year old, $450 to $600; with trees in bearing, from $1,000 to $2,000 per acre. These are enormous figures for land to Eastern people, and it is hard for them to see how it can be made to pay at those prices, but it does sometimes, in the hands of those who understand the business thoroughly, from long experience. Take it all three, I believe oranges or lemons are the safest fruits to raise, where they do well, as there is a better general demand for them, and of the deciduous fruits the French prune has been the surest, having brought fair prices every year so far, and a very high price this season. At Pomona, the prune is grown to advantage and pays well. The other deciduous fruits don't amount to much. I have been investigating the fruit-raising business a good deal of late to see if there is really as much money in it as would seem from the published reports, and I find there is not by a "jug-full." Many of the statements made are true, but they are not near the whole truth and are misleading and are often given to lead the tender-foot to believe that these large yields are the rule rather than the exception. Those who give these big reports don't tell of the failures or partial failures from the many ills that fruit trees are heir to, such as the white, black and red scale, moth, blight, hot winds, frost, &c. They don't often deduct the interest on the money invested, 2 per cent. to 3 per cent. taxes, water tax, the expense of irrigating, working and pruning, and the six, eight or ten years, it may be, they have been working on the trees to bring them to full bearing, and they never tell of the chagrin and disappointment many have experienced in laboring for years on an orchard to find, just at the time it ought to be paying handsomely, that they have made a mistake in planting certain kinds of fruit trees where the surroundings do not suit them, or to have the scale or some other pest to ruin them, or to find that there is no demand for that kind of fruit on account of over-production or some other cause. It is nothing rare to see large trees grubbed up to give place to some variety that may suit better or be more sure to bring a profit, and by the time these come to maturity things may have changed and they be found not to pay. I don't believe there is a place in this whole country where a stranger can be more easily taken in than right here in Southern California. There are so many points to watch that it is almost impossible not to get bit in some particular. But those who are so fortunate as to strike it just right, make money and a good deal of it, too. Then, another thing: you can't have the pleasant climate and the best fruit too. Wherever any variety grows to the greatest perfection, then the weather is almost unendurably hot. For instance the surest place to raise fine oranges is at Riverside and in that vicinity, but the heat there is intense; the best place for raisins is at Fresno and the country around, but that is almost as hot as bakes. In fact, scarcely any of the fruits grow to great perfection near the ocean, and if they do, the dampness and fogs materially interfere with the curing of them. As I wrote so much favorable to California while here last spring, through ignorance, taking the say-so of people I regarded as reliable, that I deem it nothing but right that I should make these corrections, so that those who may read this may not come here to be disappointed as I have been. There are many people here who got stuck on property when the boom collapsed, that they'll tell anything to get to sell out now. T. R. W.

The National Democrat, which was established in Washington one year ago by Edmund Hudson, with the endorsement of many of the great leaders of the party, has entered upon its second year with a circulation of 40,000 copies each week. This is perhaps the largest circulation ever attained by a weekly newspaper during the first year of its existence. The National Democrat occupies a field of its own, and one that too long remained unfilled. It gives a complete record of political information, including the most important speeches that are delivered by democratic leaders in Congress and on the stump. It is rendering the party an important service, and should be read by all who wish to keep fully informed in regard to public affairs and who mean to defeat the wicked scheme of the republican leaders to secure permanent control of the government, in spite of the fact that they are, and must remain, the minority party in this country. We will send the Democrat and the Interior Journal 1 year for $2.75.

Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb, with her husband, Count Magri, Baron Magri and a company of first class vaudeville stars, will appear at Walton's Opera House, Saturday, Nov. 1. The countess, although she has been before the public for 30 years, has lost none of her popularity. She is as bright and attractive as ever. Count Magri and his brother are clever actors and comedians, and the sketches, pantomimes and musical specialties introduced by them are both artistic and pleasing. In addition to these distinguished midgets, a novel and refined entertainment will be given by bell-ringers, operatic singers, magicians, musical artists. Mlle. Garretta, with her troupe of 50 trained pigeons, will appear at each performance. A matinee will be given at 2:30 p. m. Prices for it will be 15, 25 and 35. For the evening performance 25, 35 and 50. Reserved seats at McRoberts' drugstore.

The law does not allow anything to appear on your ballot but the name of the candidate you wish to vote for. Those for the democratic candidate will be as follows:

James B. McCreary.

Be sure that yours is an exact copy of it.

DANVILLE.—Mr. George W. Evans, of Lincoln, is visiting his son, J. Owsley Evans. Mr. J. W. Yerkes has been appointed attorney for the O. & C. for Boyle and Mercer, in place of Judge Durham, removed to Lexington.—The Illinois Central has compromised with the family of John Crowder, who was killed on that road, by paying them $1,250.—G. B. Woodcock sold to E. B. Russell 4 acres of land adjoining his place on 4th street at $375 an acre.—Advocate.

Call For Meeting of County Committee.

The members of the Democratic County Committee are urgently requested to meet at Stanford at 1 p. m., Saturday, Nov. 1. It is important that every member should be present.

THOS. RICHARDS, Chairman.

A Rock Prairie, Wis., farmer has discovered that lime slaked in buttermilk makes a good paint for a house. He says the mixture will withstand rain and that it only costs about $1 to furnish paint enough for an ordinary house.

—Kansas City is put down with a population of 132,416, a gain of 137 per cent. in 10 years.

—A flock of blackbirds three miles long and half a mile wide passed over Arlington, Ga., a day or two ago.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Gov. McCreary spoke here last Monday to a very large crowd.

—Mr. Rice Bengel has opened up a new livery stable in the rear of the Mason House.

—The Knights of Pythias celebrate the anniversary of their order by appropriate exercises of a religious character at the Presbyterian church, on Sunday, Nov. 9th, at 3 o'clock p. m.

—E. Brown has rented the store-room occupied by Miller & Bishop and will run an oyster saloon and grocery. T. S. Harris has accepted the position of clerk at the Holmes House. James H. Brown has rented Dr. Bash's property on Richmond street. Dr. Bash and family will board with Mr. Brown. John K. Banker has been assigned to one of the Anderson county distilleries as T. S. storekeeper.

—Last Tuesday night the young folks stormed Mr. Walter Nichols at his residence on Danville street. The Danville string band had been procured and dancing was the principal order of the day. Those present were Misses Nell Marrs, Honeywood Hoffman, Juliet Gill, Carrie Woods, Maria Cook, Isabelle and Lula Owsley, Allie Marksberry, Ada Farr, Mrs. W. H. Marrs, Mrs. L. Landrum, Mrs. John E. Sturmes. The boys were Homer, Watson, Currier, Farr, Hughes, G. Frank, Fox, West, Tevis, Doty, Cook, Walker, Lear, John Sturmes and Louis Landrum.

—The question of what the constitutional convention is doing is the subject of general comment. It has been suggested that it would be well to have the public journals call the attention of the members to the following considerations:

1. That time is money.
2. That money is scarce.
3. That the convention is not intended for a debating society.
4. That it is not intended for a "Moot Court."
5. That it is not a Legislature.
6. That the old constitution needed only a few changes.
7. That time enough has been consumed already to have made at least two constitutions good enough for all practical purposes.

—Miss Juliet D. Gill is spending a few days in Cincinnati. Ira J. Taylor, of Cincinnati, has been here with his many friends for the last few days. Miss Minnie Cecil, of Lebanon, is visiting the Misses Miller. Capt. W. J. Kinnaird, of Middleboro, was here Sunday. Howard Marrs, of Lawrenceburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with his father, J. R. Marrs. Judge Walton Eason is in Louisville on business connected with the Old Fellows Lodge. Hugh Smith and wife, of Bristol, Tenn., are visiting Mr. Wm. George on Crab Orchard street. A. M. Kinnaird has gone back to Middleboro, where he is going into the gent's furnishing goods business. Sam Joseph, now of Cincinnati, was here Sunday and Monday. Mrs. B. M. Bartlett, of Killbuck, Fla., is visiting friends and relatives in the town and county.

HUBBLE.

—Mr. Andy Spoonamore has rented James Engleman's farm for $300 for next year. We will be glad to have Mr. Spoonamore come among us. M. F. Herrin sold to M. F. Elkin some fat hogs at 345. G. P. Bright has been improving by building a barn, buggy-house and other out-buildings, till it begins to look like home. Bud Cox has returned from Tennessee and reports a car-load of sheep to be on hands as soon as the tunnel, at which the wreck occurred, can be passed through. Henry Spoonamore has sold his young mule for $35. Eggs have advanced here to 15 cts.—School Commissioner McClary visited our schools here Tuesday and reports them in splendid running order. Mr. James Gentry's cousin from Harrodsburg is visiting him this week with her pleasant smiles again. Wm. Blackerby has returned from Missouri, after a visit to Washington. Mr. James A. Harris is down to see us for the first time in many months. We are glad to see him looking so well. Mr. James Engleman is improving some, after a severe attack of rheumatism.—Dr. John Owsley has about completed his house on his farm near here.—Wesley Eubanks has a stalk of cane 18½ feet high and when he gets it worked up will report how many gallons it makes. He is also the boss sweet potato grower, as one of his 5-pounders will prove.—Bro. Montgomery will preach at the school-house here Sunday night. Remember that Bro. Godbey will begin his protracted services at the Methodist church here on the 10th of November.

—A census of fruit bearing trees has been taken in Los Angeles county, Cal. The total number is 10,365,375.

—The republicans of the 10th Pennsylvania district, after balloting for five weeks, nominated A. C. Hopkins, of Clinton county, for Congress.

—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in convention at Pittsburgh, has decided not to join in a general federation with other organizations of railroad employees.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—PENNY-SUFFLEY.—Just as the town clock struck 12 Wednesday, and the sun, which had been of seared by clouds most of the day, came from its hiding place to lend brilliancy to the occasion, a beautiful marriage ceremony was being said by Rev. Ben Helm, in the Presbyterian church, which bound together two hearts that have beat as one since the time when cupid's dart was first felt. In fact George L. Penny and Miss Emma Caswell Suffley had been sweethearts for several years and notwithstanding that no announcement had been made of their marriage until a few weeks ago, it had been generally conceded, perhaps because of the eternal fitness of things, that they would some day become husband and wife. The church had been darkened for the occasion, and the beautiful flowers which profusely filled the chancel and which were so artistically arranged, were made even lovelier by the wax tapers placed here and there for the two-fold purpose. An arch of rare flowers stood just in front of the pulpit and from it hung a large bell made of chrysanthemums, and it was under this that the solemn vows were taken. Just back and hanging from the top of the pulpit were the letters beautifully monogrammed, "P. S." The pulpit was a sea of flowers and the sweet odor that went from them was sufficed with much pleasure by the many "well-wishers" present. On entering the church the bride, accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen, was preceded by two of the ushers, Messrs. J. H. Baughman and J. S. Wells, while on the left the groom, assisted by Mr. Will Severance, was preceded by Messrs. J. S. Owsley, Jr., and E. C. Walton. Mrs. Jennie Dunn at the organ and Dr. W. B. Penny, on his cornet, very exquisitely rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, and with military movement the wedding party wended its way to the man of God, who stood in readiness to unite a couple that the Lord seemed to have designed for each other. The ceremony was most impressive and appropriate and the marriage, which was still further beautified by the groom's placing a ring on his fair bride's finger, was a pretty one indeed. The ceremony over, music was resumed and Mr. and Mrs. Penny, followed by two ushers and Miss Suffley and Mr. Severance, preceded the other two, left the church, taking with them the best wishes of all. The bride is the lovely daughter of Judge and Mrs. M. C. Sanley and has been a decided belle since her debut in society. She is of the blonde type and impresses even the stranger with her beauty and vivacity. Besides the possession of many accomplishments she has been endowed with a bright and active mind that distinguishes her wherever she is known. She was handsomely attired in an elegant dahlia velvet dress with applique trimmings and hat to match, and held in her hand a bouquet of Marechal Neil roses. Her sister wore a beautiful dress of dahlia cloth with diamond ornaments.

Mr. Penny, who is associated with his father in the drug business here, is a splendid young gentleman and will make his treasure a kind and loving husband. He is a fine business man, has a legion of friends and has evinced his good taste in his selection of a help meet. The happy couple and other friends were luncheon at the bride's home immediately after the ceremony and a feast of seven changes was much enjoyed. They were the recipients of numerous presents which showed to some extent the high esteem in which they were held. Mr. and Mrs. Penny have taken rooms at Mr. A. R. Penny's and are as pleasantly situated as hearts could wish. They start out in life under most flattering circumstances and that their journey over life's tidal sea may not be disturbed by even the smallest ripple their friend, the INTERIOR JOURNAL, with hundreds of other friends sincerely hopes.

—Mrs. Nannette Harris Willis, of Madison, has withdrawn her suit for divorce and has joined her husband again never more to part.

—Squire Griffin, aged 14, and Miss Amanda Alice Carver, just 15, obtained license yesterday and were married at Mr. St. Adams', near Crab Orchard, last night.

Got the Clerk and Ready For the Opening, Nov. 1.

(To the Editor Interior Journal)

PAINT LICK, Oct. 28.—I desire to inform those who have applied for the clerkship, that I have already secured the clerk and I wish also to inform the public that Saturday, Nov. 1st, will be my grand winter opening at Paint Lick, when all goods will be retailed at wholesale price. Come and see me and you will get bargains.

Respt. D. G. SLAUGHTER.

—In retaliation for the McKinley bill, the Mexican government has placed a duty of $500 per car upon American cattle, and has also refused to permit the 500 bushels of grain sent with each car of cattle as feed, to go through unless a duty of 30 cents per bushel is paid.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

AFTER refusing the request of the county committee made through Col. Silas Adams to divide time with Judge R. J. Breckinridge, at Liberty, Monday, Congressman Wilson attempted to shut that gentleman out by speaking 2 hours and 40 minutes, but the judge was not to be outdone in that way, especially in his own bailiwick, so he sat patiently through the long harangue and then he let fly for some 40 minutes a charge of pure democracy which opened the eyes of those who had been taking in Mr. Wilson's specious, ex parte pleadings. The republican candidate charged that Mr. Howard is not a democrat, was not nominated by an authorized body and wasn't capable of representing the district if he could be elected. He defended the McKinley bill and the other iniquitous measures of his party and said that he was not only for the Force bill, but would like it better if it took from the States the entire control of all Federal elections. After getting through he gathered up his papers and left the court-room, followed by a few of his henchmen, but late as it was Judge Breckinridge succeeded in holding the larger part of the crowd and made a rousing speech that will tell in the coming election. It is a good thing that Wilson was not allowed to have things all his own way. He is a prosy and tiresome speaker, but is smart enough to know when to make a point and to elucidate it so clearly that the commonest intellect can take it in. We had an idea that Mr. Wilson is better than his party, but his speech at Liberty shows that he is even worse, if possible, than that aggregation of conspirators against the rights of the people. No democrat will vote for a man holding such views as he does and the more honest of his own party will repudiate him.

The great con. con. is getting to be worse than a common, ordinary, everyday legislature. Because a few errors appeared in the reports of the speeches of the alleged great men who compose the body, they got into a stew and abolished all stenographic and printed reports and in other ways acted in a childish manner. So far as this abolition is concerned, it will be good news to the people who are footing the bill to preserve much of the matter, which is the veriest rot, and no tears will be shed over it. Nobody cares especially to read these speeches and it is a waste of money to print them. About two months have gone now and but little has been done to show for the expenditure of $800 or more a day. Delegate Bronston expressed the opinion of a majority of the people of the State when he told a Transcript reporter: "We are doing absolutely nothing. It is an expense that will not benefit the State at all. The greatest mistake that Kentucky ever made is ordering the constitutional convention; what little improvement could be made on the present constitution should have been made in 15 days."

Since the above was put in type, the convention repented of its hasty action and although it had been clinched by tabling a motion to reconsider, and under the pretense that it would have to pay the stenographer $35 a day for every day that the session lasted, a committee was appointed to consider the whole matter and report. The members cannot bear the idea of not having their efforts embalmed for future generations and they are trying their best to renege on their childish action.

The democrats are often chided by thoughtless persons with the remark, "Your party didn't do anything for the people when it had the power." When, pray, did the democrats have the power to do anything in National legislation but to propose measures for the good of the people and fight for equal rights to all, exclusive privileges to none? There never has been a time, as Gov. McCreary very truthfully suggested in his speech, since Buchanan was president that the democrats have had control of the entire machinery of the government so as to remove the unjust legislation of the republican party. When they had the presidency and the House, the Senate stood like a stone wall against any measure of relief and there has been no time since the war that the democrats could make or repeal a single law. The sin, therefore, of omission cannot be charged against the party which believes in the government of the people by the people and for the people.

Hon. JOHN G. WARWICK, the democratic candidate for Congress in McKinley's district, says he will beat the tariff juggler 2,000 votes or more, notwithstanding the Republican National Committee has sent $100,000 into the district. Mr. Warwick says that McKinley does not expect to be elected. He is blowing trumpets and beating drums and hopes to reduce the democratic majority and thus advertise himself for future party honors.

Mr. HOWARD seems to think it is a sufficient honor for him to be the democratic nominee for Congress in the 11th district, and is, so far as we are informed, resting on his oars. A live, energetic canvasser by a man who could portray all the evils that have resulted and will result from the continuation of the republicans in power, would reduce the republican majority in that district, especially in its present torn up condition, to a mere trifle. Bro. Howard ought to hump himself if he expects to reflect credit on his nomination. Wilson is letting no grass grow under his feet. The Middleboro man should follow his example.

All the indications point to the election of ten democratic Congressmen in this State next Tuesday. The alliance men and the republicans seem to have united in the 2d, but Mr. Ellis will beat the combination or we are very much mistaken. Mr. Carlisle has been speaking there and in his calm and matchless way has warned the farmers of the danger of putting their confidence in any man, who is not a clean-cut democrat. His speeches have been listened to by the thousands and have produced an impression that will show itself in Ellis' favor on election day.

The last election for president showed that there were 100,476 more democrats in the United States than republicans, and recognizing that they are in the minority even more than ten times that number, the republicans have used their power in Congress far more to perpetuate their hold on the government than for the public good. You can help express for the conspirators next Tuesday the general disgust that is felt for their methods by voting for the democratic candidate for Congress.

The McKinley tariff bill cuts off what little foreign market is left to the farmer for his surplus grain, while it increases the cost of goods he has to buy. It can thus easily be seen how great is the injustice done him by the government, which ought to protect him instead of the monopolists. If the farmers all over the country vote their duty next Tuesday, they will vote for the democratic nominees and show the republicans that they cannot be hoodwinked by their specious pleas.

The McKinley tariff bill increases the duty on every article of the winter outfit and the New York World publishes a table to show that under it the clothing for a man, his wife and a boy, which last season cost $105.25, will sell for $135.10 this year. All over the country object lessons are being impressed upon the people in the increase of the necessities of life and convincing them that the tariff is not only a tax, but an onerous one.

Owing to the increased price of tin plate, produced by the McKinley tariff iniquity, the tomato canning factory at Greenwood, Ind., has reduced the wages of its men. This is the way it is going to be all over the country. No to the polls next Tuesday and help to drive from power the party which enacted such a bill by casting your ballot for the man who fought it by speech and vote—Hon. James B. McCreary.

Up in Maine the other night a young negro killed a white man, when a mob quickly seized and hung him. It was an outrageous piece of business, but it happened in the wrong end of the country for much to be said about it. Only Southern outrages are paraded by the radical papers. This one don't count.

BOOKER REED having refused to submit his claims to a democratic primary, the committee has declared Henry S. Tyler the party's nominee for mayor of Louisville and the democrats will proceed to elect him. It is to be hoped that Mr. Reed will be shown that he is not a bigger man than the party to which he owes allegiance.

The democrats are churning Pennsylvania for their candidate for governor by 20,000 to 30,000 majority. Stranger things have happened, but we fear this is one of those things said to be too good to be true.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The attention of the con. con. is called to some admirable suggestions by our Lancaster correspondent.

The convention will adjourn to-day until next Friday for the members to go home to vote. They will also draw their per diem to pay for their patriotism.

Mr. Miller offered a resolution requesting the county clerks to furnish the convention with a statement of the amounts paid by them to the jailers of their counties during each of the past 2 years.

A petition was read from the committee of the M. E. conference, in session at Barbourville, asking that every official shall be required to take an oath that he did not, in his canvass, obtain any vote by bribery, by use of money or liquor, and that no public money shall be permitted to be given to sectarian schools and no board of trustees shall consist of members of one religious denomination.

Norris Watts, son of Edward Henry Watts, of London, England, a capitalist, was shot through the groin by an unknown party while out hunting in the woods near Cumberland Gap. He is not expected to live.

Her dresses are made by Worth and are as fine as material and art can make them. See her tomorrow afternoon and evening with her little husband, Count Magri, and his brother, Baron Magri, in "Two Strings to Her Bow, or Which Will Win Her?"

Is a difficulty growing out of the re. publican convention now in Whitley, Sheriff M. A. Moore shot Town Marshal John Thomas at Wilkesburg, Tuesday, the ball entering the neck and producing a probably fatal wound. Only two shots were fired, both by the sheriff, the other striking a bystander, Jos. Bridgeford, in the hip. Thomas drew his pistol first but did not get a chance to use it. Moore is a red-hot anti-Finley and Thomas a Finley man. More trouble is expected.

The Myers House has been rented by Mr. A. S. Myers to P. W. Green, of Hustonville, who takes charge about Nov. 10th. The price paid is said to be $500, in addition to boarding the family, making it in all, we should say, equal to $1,500. The rent includes all the furniture and fixtures and the contract is for three, with the privilege of five years. Mr. Green is a good hotel keeper and will maintain the high reputation of this excellent hostelry.

Circuit Court.—In the case of Wright against the Cincinnati Southern for damages, the judge instructed the jury to find for the defendant, whose counsel subsequently moved for a new trial. W. A. Conley sued Robert Barnett for selling him cholera affected hogs, but after hearing the evidence, Judge Morrow gave peremptory instructions for Barnett. John F. Higgins, as county attorney pro tem, sued the county for his per cent of a fine worked out by the defendant in the case, but the court of appeals having decided that there are no grounds for action in such cases, the suit was dismissed. Wm. Texters plead guilty to maliciously wounding Marshal Newland and saved himself a year by it, the jury giving him four years instead of the full penalty, which a trial of the case would have assured. After several efforts at the Mart Smith case, for the murder of O. C. Smith, the trial was finally commenced Wednesday afternoon. An examination of the standing juries failed to find a single qualified man and Judge Morrow ordered the sheriff to summon 40 men from Boyle to report yesterday evening. The prosecution is assisted by R. C. Warren and Robert Harding and the defense by Judge M. H. Owsley, Col. W. O. Bradley and Miller & Owsley. John W. Yerrces, Esq., who represented Mr. Bradley in the last trial, assisted in selecting the jury as it was from mostly from his county.

The case of G. G. Wine against Hon. J. S. Owsley for $1,050 for a monument, was heard until noon yesterday, when the Smith case having precedence, it was continued till next Monday. It will be remembered that there were two monuments shipped to Mr. Owsley, one by order of Mr. Francis. Mr. Owsley took the latter and claimed that he had not given Wine any instructions to ship. Wine claims that he had a well-understood contract and the suit is to decide which is right in the matter.

Only 7 jurors were secured from the Boyle county venire—W. B. Temple, J. C. Davis, Ed Flaig, J. W. McGinnis, T. M. Clarkson, J. R. Dodd and John Nash. S. Chandler and J. C. Carson, this county, were added and then the court stuck and ordered the sheriff to go to Boyle for 15 more men to report at 9 a. m. to-day.

The first snow of the season fell for a few minutes Wednesday and the weather continues to be disagreeable.

ALBERT ALLISON, a witness in the Mart Smith case, was arrested by Chief of Police Hill at Middlesboro and brought here yesterday.

The society presided over by Miss Annie McKimney has engaged the Heine Family Concert Co. to give performances at the Opera House Dec. 5 and 6.

Churches in Lincoln and adjoining counties desiring the services of a good vocal music teacher would do well to consult J. M. Siheld, of this place.

It is to date 26 persons have been declared idiots or lunatics in the circuit court and placed upon the charge of the county and the State, and the cry is still they come.

The grand jury failed to find an indictment against old "Santa Claus" Dalton for robbing and burning the store of Jim Carter and he has been discharged from jail.

As Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. is prowling around over the State with a donkey and a couple of blood-hounds as the leading characters. The whole ship's crew ought to be driven to hades.

While coming down a tight of stairs our old friend, Dr. Hawkins Brown, of Hustonville, missed his footing and fell headforemost, bruising himself up considerably and breaking a couple of fingers on his right hand.

A MATINEE will be given by the Mrs. Tom Thumb Co. at 2:30 to-morrow, Saturday, especially for the ladies and children. Come in and see the Lilliputians and the entertaining show that they give. School children will be admitted for 15 cents.

To RECEIVE.—Invitations were received by a number of the friends of the family to the reception given Mr. and Mrs. George L. Penny by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Penny, last night, and the occasion promised to be an elegant affair.

ATTENTION HUNTERS.—Hon. R. C. Warren says the published game law is incorrect. Come to headquarters for breech and muzzle loading guns, powder shot and loaded shells, at low prices for cash, without any new tariff duties added. W. B. McRoberts.

TOWN SALES.—Mr. George H. Bruce has sold his house and lot on Lower Main street to John B. Foster for $3,500, possession to be given next June. W. H. Higgins sold John Ramsey a store-room on Lancaster street for $525. Mr. Ramsey will open a grocery and provision store.

Mrs. Tom Truitt and her company appear to-morrow afternoon and evening at Walton's Opera House. It will be well worth the low admission to see the three midgots and their talented corps of actors. Mrs. Thumb is only 32 inches high and her husband and his brother are not much taller.

2 Capt. Wm. HERNDON, Commonwealth's Attorney, keeps a list of the jurors examined in every murder case and by turning to his book he can tell who have conscientious scruples, who are liable to acquit, &c. It is a first-rate plan and will save him a good deal of trouble in selecting future juries.

Capt. Rochester says the white cap article in our last issue, which told of his son Ed getting clubbed by masked men, was exaggerated. It was a scheme originated by the captain himself to make Ed stay at home at night by giving him such a scare he would be afraid to go down town. Ed got onto it, however, so the best laid plans gang aft aglee.

Our people must not be deceived by the fact that our merchants have not raised the price of their goods since the passage of the McKinley bill. It is simply because they do not want to take advantage of their customers. All of them will tell you that they have been notified by the manufacturers and wholesalers that nearly everything will be materially increased. Ask W. H. Higgins how much the increase will be on cutlery, lamp chimneys, cigars and nearly everything that his firm handles.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. J. C. Gill, a Methodist evangelist, died in Laurel county this week.

—Eld. J. G. Livingston will preach at Logan's Creek Church Sunday at 11 o'clock.

—The Christian Endeavor Society will hold its next meeting at the Christian church, Sunday evening, at 6 o'clock sharp.

—The annual meeting of the American Bible Association will be held in the Methodist church here next Sunday night at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is desired. A. C. Sine, county president.

—Rev. L. H. Salin, the converted Jew, is winning golden opinions from the members of the Baptist church, who are greatly pleased with his discourses. The meetings are held at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. and will continue for a week or more.

—The "Seeders," as a body of Presbyterians are known, held a convention at Paint Lick which closed Monday. There are only four churches of them in Kentucky and but few in the U. S. They believe in close communion and sing psalms instead of hymns.

—Rev. Martin L. Fritch, a minister of the Reformed Church, was sentenced at Reading, Pa., to three months in jail and to pay a fine and costs amounting to $200, for stealing.

—Rev. L. S. McElroy, who has been engaged for the past two years in adding to the endowment of Central University, has preached in that time over 500 sermons, has held 19 protracted services and has witnessed the reception of 300 persons into the churches.—Advocate.

—Somebody, in the hope of gaining a little cheap notoriety, has made an offer to take Birchall's place on the gallows for $1,000. A letter purporting to have been written by a person signing himself "The Colonel," and stating that he killed Benwell, has been shown to be a fake.
